INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPEMENTS AND PERSONAL BEAUTY CONSIDERED IN CONNECTION WITH MADAME FELIX GOURAUD'S POUDRES SUBTILES.

The sculptor whose study is to imitate the exact work of Nature, portrays in his model of the human form a broad and elevated forehead. This development is invariably connected with some marks of success in the pursuits of a higher order of mental reality. It also is received as a mark of intellect, it is no less a mark of intellectual personal beauty, and has a great importance to those, and there are many such, possessed of this prominent feature, that have secured by the encroachments of a too luxurious growth of hair to remove that portion of the excrescence which extends in an increase only to deform. STATE OF MAINE.

LAND OFFICE,
Bangor, Oct 3, 1841.

THE undersigned hereby gives public notice that the settling land in the following described Townships, which has been surveyed into settling lots and belonging to the State, is now in the market for sale and settlement to wit:

Township	No 4, Range 5,	West from the East line of the State
"	No 5	6		"
"	No 6,	5		"
	No 8	" 5
	No 9,	4,
	No 9	" 6
	No 10	3,	"
	No 11,	" 3,	"	"
	No 11,	" 6	"	"
	No 12,	3,	"	"
	No 12,	" 3,
	No 13	" 4	"	"
"	Letter F	" 2,	"	"
"	Letter H,	" 2,	"	"
"	Letter D,	1	"	"

The prices for land in these Townships will vary according to the situation and quality of the lots, not less however than fifty cents and probably not exceeding one dollar per acre.

The land will be sold upon a credit of four yearly payments with interest, the three first payments to be expended in labor on the roads in the Township where the land sold is situated under the direction of the Land Agent and the last payment to be in cash. Each purchaser will be required by the terms of his deed, within said four years to build a House on his lot and to clear in a proper manner fifteen acres for every one hundred which shall be laid down to grass.

Whenever twenty, or a less number of persons shall give a satisfactory bond to the Land Agent that they will within three years erect a substantial Saw and Grist Mill in any Township located for settlers, having no mills in said Township, each of said persons will be entitled to a deed of one lot of land subject to the performance of the settling duties above mentioned, and the Company will be entitled to a deed of the mill lot.

Not more than four lots will be sold to any one person in any township or tract.

The Aroostook Road has been completed this year to the Aroostook River, and as that river is navigable for boats, a good communication is now opened to the settler for an easy access to each of the above mentioned Townships.

Saw and Grist Mills have been erected and are now in operation in Township Letter F, Range 2, No 9 Range 4, and No 11 Range 5, and contracts have been made for the erection of Mills the ensuing year in Township No 9 Range 6, No 11 Range 6, and in Letter D, Range 1.

There has been a steady demand for settling land through the season, and more lots have been sold than in any former year. As the United States have recently established a post near the mouth of the Aroostook, and another at the mouth of Fish River, and have sent a Company of soldiers to each, new roads will undoubtedly be soon opened through this section of the State, mail routes established, new markets opened for produce, and the settler will feel additional security from any border difficulty.

With the known fertility of the soil, the advantage of good roads and mills, and the rapid settlement of this part of the State, it is believed that a most favorable opportunity is now offered to young men who wish to become farmers, to secure themselves good locations, where in a few years with industry and economy they cannot fail to secure to themselves an honorable competency.

ELIJAH L. HAMLIN
Land Agent of Maine.

The following newspapers are requested to publish the above notice weekly for two months, and to forward their bills to the Land Office for payment: Calais Advertiser, Waldo Signal, Piscataquis Herald, Peoples Press, Kennebec Journal, Portland Advertiser, Oxford Democrat, York County Herald, Franklin Register, Lincoln Telegraph, New Hampshire Statesman and State Journal, Albany Boston.

HUMAN HAIR.

CLEANLINESS OF THE HEAD AND HAIR.

STRANGE it is that persons who attend strictly to personal cleanliness, baths &c. should neglect the Head. The Hair, the most essential, the most exposed, and the most beautiful when properly cared for, of all the gifts of the Creator. Perfectly free from it be free from dandruff or scurf with a certainty that the hair cannot fall out by the use of the Balm of Columbia. Ladies will you make your toilet without this article? I answer fearlessly, No, if you have once tried and experienced its purifying effects—its sweet perfume.

A hundred articles have been put forth on the credit of this, the only first, the only really valuable article. A mass of testimony from all classes to these facts.

LOOK OUT. Counterfeits are abroad, look always for the name of COMSTOCK & Co. on the splendid wrappers, and never buy it without that name.

[From the Boston Chronicle, July 10.]

We see by [illegible] that Messrs. Comstock & Co. the Agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputies to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere. We know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phrenological developements, which considering that they betokened a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless resort to miscalled restoratives, purchased some months ago a bottle or two of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlets in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not puffing one of the commodity has been sent to us, and indeed we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, through its virtue, hair enough, and of a passable quality, of our own.

Daring Fraud.

The Balm of Columbia has been imitated by a notorious counterfeiter. Let it never be purchased or used unless it have the signature of COMSTOCK & Co. on a splendid wrapper. This is the only external test that will secure the public from deception.

New READING-BOOK for Schools.

THE MONITORIAL READER, or a Monitor to Youth holding up to their view Models whereby to form their own Characters. By DANIEL ADAMS, Author of Adams's New Arithmetic.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PREFACE.

THE MONITORIAL READER possesses distinctive traits. The object is to supply what is believed to be the great desideratum in our schools, a series of exercises relating to what concerns the practical matters of life, truth, integrity, honesty, industry, temperance, forethought, frugality, patient endurance of adversity, and whatever else tends to form and fix the character of youth.

We wish to impress it on the minds of those into whose hands these exercises shall come, now in this seed time of life, what is here so abundantly inculcated, that every one is emphatically the architect of his own fortune; that with themselves it lies whether they shall ever be any thing or nothing; that a moneied capital to begin with does not weigh a whit in the balance for or against them; that coming into life with health, a sound quality for labor, good education, a useful and respectable trade, habits of industry, sobriety, punctuality, frugality, and above all with a GOOD AND UNSPOTTED CHARACTER, they have the best of the capital, a most capital, the highest of all powers, moral power, and the most certain means of honest and honorable accumulation and fortune, and may be sure under circumstances ordinarily propitious to rise to that competency of influence, respect and general confidence, and that honorable measure of wealth and independence which should fully satisfy a reasonable and virtuous ambition.

EXTRACTS FROM RECOMMENDATIONS.

The influence will all be found on the side of virtue, morality and religion. Occasional comments are given. Difficult or unusual words are defined. Prose and poetry are suitably intermingled.

It is hardly to be imagined that this book should fail of popular favor. It could not, had it not so many competitors that have got the start of it in the race. As it is, its mettle is such as to give it fair promise of ultimate success in the contest. Boston Recorder.

Dr. Adams: Having examined to some extent your Monitorial Reader, I am pleased with its plan, its object, and the manner in which it has been executed. It seems adapted to the intellectual and moral improvement of those for whose use it was designed. I trust it will prove to be what its author fondly anticipates.

(Rev.) LZ S. BARSTOW, Keene.

It is just such a book as our New England boys and girls will be glad to see, for it breathes in a pleasing manner industry, frugality, truth, honesty, temperance, peace, kindness, fortitude and a cheerful piety. The Vocabulary at the end, and the arrangement for defining words, will add to its value in the hands of a judicious teacher.

(Rev.) ABIEL A. LIVERMORE, Keene.

We have also recommendations from a number of individuals and periodicals, among which are D. Crosby, Preceptor of the High School, Nashua; J. Newton Brown, Professor of Theology at New Hampton. It is also adopted by the Associations of School Teachers in Cheshire and Hillsboro' counties, and by the School Committee of Concord.

About 1000 copies have been published, and most of it disposed of.

JOHN S. SAYWARD, Editor.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1841.

The Police of our City.

We are indebted to a correspondent for the following account of the skill of Constable Walker, of this city, in arresting a determined prisoner, who had escaped from jail. This reminds us of the vigilance and perseverance of Constable Walker in several other instances, and the general fidelity and quiet manner with which the criminal police of our city is conducted. It has not become common to give publicity to such proceedings generally, although we are half inclined to believe that it would be well to publish the business of the police officers, as a caution to those who intend mischief.

The account alluded to states that on Friday last, Mr. Wellington, the jailor, called upon Constable Walker with an advertisement of a man who had escaped from prison, and requested him to pursue the man and take him into custody. Constable Walker immediately started in pursuit found the man in Hampden, and arrested him. The prisoner's wife soon appeared and desired a little conversation with her husband in an adjoining room, which, after examining the room, the officer permitted.

In about two minutes he heard a noise, and on opening the door found that the prisoner had gone through the window, carrying the whole with him, and had fled for the woods in his shirt sleeves. The officer started after him, striping himself of his over coat and a portion of other clothing, and ran until he had got all striped for a race. The prisoner fled into the woods for a mile, or more, before he was overhauled by the officer. Finding that Walker gained upon him he stopped, and armed himself with a club, and they met and had a severe knock down. The prisoner, with a club, and the officer with the butt of a horsewhip. Walker soon brought him to terms, and led him back the way they came to pick up the clothes that had been dropped. They were gone one and a half hours before they returned; and the women got alarmed, knowing he was a larger man than Walker, and supposing he had murdered him.

But Walker returned leading his prisoner with him, and after repairing all damages, made the prisoner get into his carriage and soon returned him to the jailer, and received his reward. The prisoner's name is James Alexander, who broke jail when Mr. Small was Sheriff. Two officers then overtook him in the woods, and both together could not arrest him, and had to call on two other men to their aid.

Political Proscription of Blue Ink.

Extract from a letter in the Boston Daily Advertiser, dated Buenos Ayres, Aug. 18.

Masters of vessels coming to this port should be careful to make out their manifesto with black or red ink, as otherwise they are liable to be much delayed and perplexed on entering at the Resguardo and Custom House. Should any of the papers required be written with blue ink, the officers in attendance positively refuse to admit the vessel to entry, until fresh copies are written out in a color more congenial to their political feelings and taste.

Mr McLeod left Montreal on Monday last for Kingston, via Ottawa. The Toronto Herald of the 21st, says:

A few days, and we shall have the persecuted McLeod among us, and we express but the general sentiments of all parties, classes and creeds in the city, in saying that Toronto will warmly welcome him, of whom it may indeed be said "He was lost and is found."

Fredericton, Oct. 16.

A detachment of the 69th Regt. consisting of Serjeants, Corporals and Privates, left this garrison on Wednesday evening en route for Canada They are men of at least fifteen years service, of excellent characters, and are volunteers for the Royal Canada Regiment, about to be formed in this manner from the different corps in America, for the performance of garrison duty on that part of the frontier, bordering on the United States. Sentinel.

High Handed Proceeding, of a British Officer.

An English brig having been, in August, seized at Madrid, with a cargo of goods from Gibralter for smuggling, the British brig of war Savage, arrived in port, demanded the restoration of the smuggler and crew, or warned the authorities of the consequences. As the right was entirely on the side of the Portuguese, they refused the insolent demand, and though there were rumors of the intention of the British commander to cut out the vessel, nothing of the kind was attempted. Had there been such an attempt, preparation was made to give the assaulting party a warm reception. The fact seems to be that Gibraltar, whence the smuggling brig arrived, is little else than a smugglers depot, from which the Mediterranean coast of Spain, and other convenient ports, are flooded with contraband and taxed articles, forced in many instances on shore, in the very defiance of the national authorities. If poor China, also, could have an impartial hearing among the nations, her case would be found a grievous one. N. Y. Tribune.

Florida.

TAMPA, Oct. 18, 1841 6 o'clock, P. M.

Alligator has this moment got in. I have just returned from Head Quarters, and have once more favorable news. Neethla-Matala, the chief of the Micasoukies, and brother of Tiger-Tail, is within a few miles of this, and coming in. All the Micasoukies are coming. They have been visited with the sickness that has so ravaged the Gulph Coast. Waggons are to be sent out to bring in their sick. Tigar-Tail is lame, and has also to be brought in. This done, a deputation will then be sent to the Creeks on our borders, and there is no doubt that the example of the Micasoukies will bring them in also; when all our Northern frontiers will be left clear, and no enemy between you and me. The whole force will then be directed against Sam Jones.

Jamaica.

The Jamaica papers of the 28th ult., complain of the shortness of the crops, hard times, &c. The Kingston Morning Journal says, the present state of things is enough to make the most patient and enduring complain. And what makes matters worse, there is scarcely any expectation of an immediate change.

There is, quoth the same paper, and has been no complaint against the laborers for some time past. We are in hopes also from the change which has taken place in the seasons, and the fine rains we have been favored with in various, if not in all parts of the island, that our crops will considerably increase.

Late from New Grenada.

By the arrival of the Br. brig Jane, at Jamaica, intelligence has been received from Carthagena to the 15th ultimo. That city was still besieged by the insurgents, both by sea and land. The Jane forced the blockade, and succeeded in landing her cargo, thus furnishing the Carthagenians with a supply of provisions for three or four months. The Jane was fired at by the besieging squadron, and chased by one of the schooners aided by sweeps. Neither the vessel nor crew received any injury.

The besieging forces were commanded by Gen. Carmona.

The Regular Session of Congress.

The time fixed by the Constitution for the assembling of Congress is but six weeks off, and many speculations are given as to the business of the session. It is said by those who should know best, that the President will submit some plan for a fiscal agent of the Government, free from objection, or at least of a character which will make the institution, whatever it may be, useful to both the Government and People. It is impossible that the President should recommend the continuance of existing laws, and we are assured he does not. The session of Congress will, no doubt, be a highly interesting one, both from the action of Congress in reference to a financial measure, and from the renewed discussion, which no doubt, will be had upon the Tariff question. The Report of the New York Investigating Committee will be laid before Congress, and will present some astounding disclosures in reference to mal-practices of former officers of the General Government. Portland Adv.

Air Springs for Rail Road Cars.

Where will be the end of mechanical inventions and improvements? Who will believe that a railroad car is already constructed and proved which rests upon air springs? Mr. Ellsworth informs us, that just before leaving Washington, he signed a patent for a man who proposed to construct springs for cars so that passengers should be able to read and write without any inconvenience. "Of what do you make your springs, iron?" "No." "Of wood?" "No." "What then?" "Air." "How" "Take a strong metalic cylinder, 12 inches long; set it perpendicular; force into this 13 atmospheres (that is, by use of the forcing air pump) make the air in the cylinder 13 times as dense or as heavy as common air; on the top of this put oil, and then insert a piston which shall fill the cylinder, and this makes the spring!" Mr. Ellsworth rode in a car carrying six passengers, which is thus constructed, and it answered fully the expectations and promises of the patentee. N. E. Farmer.

A Fine Woman.

It is very pleasant to observe how different modern writers and the inspired author of the book of Proverbs describe a fine woman. The former confine their praise chiefly to personal charms and ornamental accomplishments: the latter celebrates only the virtues of a valuable mistress of a family of a useful member of society; the one is acquainted with all the fashionable languages of Europe the other opens her mouth with wisdom, and is perfectly acquainted with all the uses of the needle, the distaff and loom; the business of the one is pleasure the pleasure of the other is business; the one is admiral abroad the other at home. Her children rise up and call her blessed, and her husband also praiseth her. There is no name in the world equal to this, nor is there a note in music half so delightful as the respectful language with which the grateful son or daughter perpetuates the memory of a sensible and affectionate mother. Boston Chron.

THE CONSTITUTION recently adopted, by the Convention, for Rhode Island, contains, among its provisions, one forbidding the General Assembly to incur State debts to an amount exceeding $50,000, except in the time of war, or in the case of invasion, without the express consent of the people. A Bank cannot be incorporated without the consent of the people, expressed at the next election, after application shall have been made to the Assembly, and all grants of incorporation may be amended or repealed at the pleasure of the Assembly. The Governor is invested with the veto power, of the strongest character.

☞ Secretaries Forward, Wickliffe and Upsher, are widowers, and Mr. Legare is a bachelor

Hon. H. A. Wise writes to the National Intelligencer, from Philadelphia, that he is prostrate with intermittent fever. He says, (as a reason for not addressing his constituents,) that "Sickness in my family called me to this city about the 10th instant; and, since my arrival, I have been prostrated by an intermittent fever. I am now sick in bed, and am compelled to employ another's hand to explain my silence and my absence, to my district."

Facts for Mechanics.

St. Paul was a mechanic, a tent maker. Our Saviour was a mechanic, a carpenter. The great Architect of the universe, in the mechanism of the heavens and the earth, with its productions, animate and inanimate, displays a power and skill which human wisdom may attempt to imitate, but which they can never equal or approach.

Next to farmers, mechanics are the most numerous and the most important class of the community. Whatever promotes their interests, of course promotes the interests of the public. They, like farmers, have great facilities and great inducements to become men of science and of sound knowledge. Every mechanic, in every operation, brings into use some principle of science, which principle it is, of course, his interest and his convenience to understand.

Every apprentice boy, no matter how assiduous or how rigorous his employment, if he spends a few minutes daily in useful reading and other modes of improvement, is certain to be a man of future influence and respectability. That apprentice who seeks most assiduously the interests of his employer, promotes most effectually his own interest; his character is the best capital a young man can have for the commencement of business.

Mechanics, like farmers, make safe and enlightened statesmen. They are well educated for legislators, and other officers, because educated in schools of experience. Who can be better qualified to make Laws for aiding the operations of business, than those engaged in these operations?

In 1830, a few farmers and mechanics in a small village in Massachusetts, organized a society, entitled the "Millbury Branch of the American Lyceum;" its object the mutual improvement of its members, and the "diffusion of knowledge over the globe." From that humble, but dignified and republican origin, has arisen the general institution of lyceums, now in operation in almost every section of both continents, and in many of the islands in the Atlantic and Pacific.

It is evident that if farmers and mechanics through the country generally, should enlist in earnest in the great work of SELF EDUCATION, they might reform and perpetuate our republican institutions, and hand down pure Christian republicanism to posterity. Without that step, it is equally evident, that though the American republic may retain its name, republicanism, especially in America, will soon be known only among the things that were.—Self Instructor.

Correct Opinion by an Enemy.

"Where their national honor is concerned," says the Montreal Times, "the Americans have always acted with promptness, decision, and energy, as was proved in their war with England in 1812. The fear of an other such encounter, at a period when the mother country is in a favorable state of preparation, will doubtless be the means of uniting those two parties throughout the country, which for twelve years or more have been on terms of political animosity. It has always been a characteristic of the Americans, that however much they may squabble among themselves, their animosities towards each other are always subsided, and they stand ready to make common cause, whenever their common country is threatened from abroad. It is then that the North and the South, the East and the West, vie with each other in their efforts to maintain, unspotted, the integrity and the valor of their Republic."

Indian Temperance.

The Fredericton, N. B. Sentinel says, the whole tribe of the Micmac Indians have become converts to the Total Abstinence Reform; thus removing one of the most powerful excuses of the constitutional decay, and the deterioration and rapid decrease in the virtue and the numerical strength of those children of the forest.

Dull of Comprehension.

The Boston Transcript speaking of a late concert in that city, says that "the audience was grossly insulted and annoyed by the outrageous conduct of five individuals, (two men and three women) occupying one of the back seats, who during the entire performance, kept up a perpetual rattle of silly conversation, and loud vulgar laughter. They were repeatedly hissed, but they had not sense enough to comprehend what "lunatic lean witted," "knotty-pated" "ramping fools," they were.

There are a great many people, neighbor, who are similarly obtuse, and hence, probably, arose the old proverb, that "it is easy to tell a man he is a fool, but hard to make him believe it." If every body who is a nuisance would but be persuaded of it, a great many persons would alter their own personal estimates of themselves, we take it.

A Yankee Expedient.

The Buffalo Commercial relates a story of a chap who found himself pennyless at Toledo, Ohio, and wished to come East. He procured a couple of common musk melons, the seed of which he carefully dried and put in papers. With this commodity he made his way to the gentlemen's cabin, and after persuading the natives that the seeds were those of the Cork Cantelope, found only in the South Sea Islands, and which excelled all others in size and flavor, sold enough at 6 cents each to defray his passage through, while it left a small balance to boot in his otherwise tenantless pockets. His mother knows he never will be out.

☞ Nature seems to say "I have ventured so great a stake as my success, in no single creature. I have not yet arrived at my end. The gardener aims to produce a fine peach or pear, but my aim is the health of the whole tree root, stem, leaf, flower and seed and by no means the pampering of a monstrous pericarp at the expense of all the other functions."

Yankee Enterprize.

Ship Henry, of Newburyport, lately cleared at Liverpool for Ostend, there to be laden with machinery and workmen for the manufacture of cotton, to be conveyed to Vera Cruz and put into work in Mexico. The machinery was made at the Phœnix Works in Ghent.

Frudery.

There is a young lady in the Deaf and Dumb Aslylum, so modest that she cannot utter the naked truth; and a noked lie makes her shudder. She must be interesting in conversation!

☞ A man was born not for prosperity, but to suffer for the benefit of others like the noble rock-maple, which all around our villages bleeds for the service of man.

By This Morning's Mail.

Another Revolution in Mexico---Santa Anna at the Capital, and again triumphant over Bustamente.

Havana papers, received at N. Orleans, contain later intelligence from Mexico from which it appears that the movement commenced by Paredes in Guadalaxare, has reached the capital, that it is a popular move, is countenanced by Santa Anna, and it is likely to be successful and overturn the present order of things whatever may be substituted in their stead, or whoever may come to the head of affairs.

The Vera Cruz Censor of the 9th of October says, the mail had arrived from the capital with intelligence to the 2d, which it gives:

Aug 31st - About 3 o'clock this evening, Gen. Valencia declared in the capital for the Constitution of 1824. His force consisted of the 11th Regiment of Infantry, the companies of Peubla, the squadron of the district, and others. The alarm spread throughout the whole city in a moment, and all the edifices which commanded the citadel were immediately occupied by the insurgents. The government fortified itself in St. Augustine, in the palace, and at other points. About half past 5 in the evening, Bustamente, with a column of infantry, two 4 pounders, 150 horse, marched to the Acordada, and ordered the insurgents to disperse. The President occupied several other points, but no hostile demonstration was made by either party, and it was understood that Gen. Valencia gave notice that he would make no attack, but merely defend this position until the arrival of Gen. Santa Anna. Government patrols preserve order through the city.

Sept. 1st The insurgents have not yielded an inch. Bustament retired about 11 last night to his palace at St. Augustine. A little after this hour, all the students of the Military Academy marched and united themselves with Valencia, and with them such numbers of officers and men of different corps as to form a full battalion. The force of the insurgents is now more than 1,600 men, with 18 pieces of cannon of all calibre. No loafers have been received among them. The Government has, at the utmost, not over 1,000 men, little artillery, but principally cavalry it has to guard many different points, while the insurgents are concentrated in the citadel, and are strongly fortified. Up to this time the communication of the citizens with the insurgents remains free. Indeed, both parties are looking for the stand that may be taken by Puebla.

The government ordered Tonejon to march in his troops, but the general opinion is that they can obtain no succor from without. To-day they have succeeded in obtaining a secret session of Congress, but it is rumored that it has denied the extraordinary powers asked by Bustamente. Much is said of his resignation, but nothing certain is known.

Sept. 2. The secret session lasted till half past 10 last night, and it is now said that that body has voted to the President all the powers which he asks. At a late hour the guard of St. Augustine went over to the citadel, huzzaing for Santa Anna. At 3 o'clock a firing commenced in the direction of Machas and the citadel, which lasted more than an hour.

The Censor considers the revolution, this time, sure of succeeding. Bustamente can get no accession to his force, while the People, being wedded to free principles, are flocking to the revolutionary standard from all directions.

Statement of Colt, the Murderer of Mr. Adams.

The New York Express states that efforts are making to prove hereditary insanity at the trial of Colt, the present week.

Colt has made a statement of the dreadful affair to his friends.

He states that Adams came to his rooms on the fatal afternoon to dun him for an unsettled account, about which there was some dispute. They both sat down to the table and settled the various items excepting $3. About this a dispute arose between them and high words ensued, during which Adams called him a "liar." Exasperated at this he struck him, and a scuffle thereupon ensued. Adams being the stronger man of the two, threw and fell upon Colt so violently by the throat that he was in danger of choaking. Colt was then lying upon his back on the floor, and as his hand was stretch out, it came in contact with something which he at once seized, (but as he avers knew not what it was) and finding Adams's grip still hard upon his throat, he brought his hand round and struck him on the back of the head; this, it would seem, was hardly sufficient to stun him, and he only rolled rather more on one side; Colt then struck him again, and the blow must have fallen on the side of the head.

These wounds, dreadful as the subsequent examination proved them to be, were not sufficient to release the prisoner's throat; but even in the agony of death Adams still continued to hold firmly on, until Colt seemed to be at his last gasp, and then the dreadful blow was given on the front of the head, which deprived the wretched being of life, and released the other from his grasp. Colt then rose and found Adams a corpse.

For some time, he says, he remained stupified with dread and horror he knew not what to do, and at length determined to make his brother acquainted with the facts. For this purpose he went to his lodgings, but he was not at home He then went into the Park, and walked there for some time, being unable to make up his mind as to the best course to be pursued. He at one time thought to tell some friend, but knowing that some stains rested upon his character, he refrained, lest they should not believe his story, and so deliver him up to justice. After travelling the Park for many and many a time, he at length returned to his rooms, and took the dreadful means, with which the public are already acquainted, to conceal the awful deed.

The last Arkansas Gazette contains a description of the late outrage and wholesale murder at Island 64. It is said that most of the Lynchers were the former associates of their unfortunate victims, and that they combined to murder them and drive them off in order to get their property. The Gazette publishes the names of the murderers and the murdered. It appears that since the murder the Lynchers have driven the women and children from their homes in Coahoma county, burned their houses and sold their lands and property "under sham judgements." Judge Lacy of the Supreme Court of Arkansas, and some of the most respectable citizens have been threatened with death, if they attempt to bring the Lynchers to justice.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Maine, in Legislature assembled. Humbly shews

THAT we, the subscribers, being interested in mills, logs, and other lumber, situate on or near the Kenduskeag stream, and depend on getting our logs down to the mills when the fresh-ket is up so that we can drive them down, for our living and support, and it frequently happens that persons roll down a large number of logs and other lumber, and leave them at different places and obstruct a free passage down said stream, so that logs are prevented from getting down in season to the mills to be sawed while the water is up, to the great injury of those interested in logs, mills, &c. They therefore pray your honorable body to enact a law establishing a penalty, to be recovered of all persons obstructing the passage above mentioned, and also allowing any person or persons who may be injured, to clear away such obstructions, and in duty bound will ever pray.

BALDNESS.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR

Is the greatest ornament belonging to the human frame How strangely the loss of it changes the countenance and prematurely brings on the appearance of old age, which causes many to resort all sorts of means to conceal the fact, thus uncovered and sometimes even shun society to avoid the jeers and sneers of their acquaintance, the remainder of their lives is consequently spent in retirement In short not even the loss of property fills the generous thinking mind with that heavy sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair To avert all these unpleasant circumstances, OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA stops the hair from falling off on the first application and a few bottles restores it again It likewise produces eyebrows and whiskers, prevents the hair from turning gray, makes it curl beautifully, and frees it from scurf Numerous certificates of the first respectability in support of the virtues of Oldridge's Balm are shown by the proprietors

Read the following

ROBERT WHARTON, Esq late Mayor of Philadelphia has certified as may be seen below to the high character of the following gentlemen

The undersigned do hereby certify that we have used the Balm of Columbia discovered by J Oldridge and have found it highly serviceable not only as a preventive against the falling of hair, but also a certain restorative

BALSOM OF LIVERWORT

DR TAYLOR'S BALSOM of LIVERWORT has been used successfully for eight years in the Cure of these Diseases ☞ Remember! the genuine is signed I Powers 375 Bowery New York ALL others are spurious and unauthorized

CONSUMPTION & LIVER COMPLAINT

As a general remedy for these diseases, I am fully satisfied from long experience, there is no medicine equal to Dr Taylor's Balsom of Liverwort Being purely vegetable it can be used with the utmost safety by all persons in every condition It cleanses the lungs by expectoration relieves difficult breathing and heals the chest There can be no question but this medicine is a certain cure for chronic coughs and colds I have used it for four years in my practice and always with success A F RODGERS M D

☞ SPITTING OF BLOOD This disease consists of a discharge of blood often frothy from the mouth brought up with walking and coughing, and is usually accompanied with difficulty of breathing and some pain in the chest Sometimes it is preceded by an oppression at the chest, a dry tickling cough and slight shooting pains This disease is always more or less dangerous The great danger is that these symptoms may terminate in consumption and immediate remedies can alone save this end But Dr Taylor's Balsom of Liverwort is a sure remedy and to shew its unparalleled success certificates of cures from 421 citizens and many physicians will be published in a few days

☞ NERVOUS DISEASES AND WEAKNESS Dr Taylor's Balsom of Liverwort made at 375 Bowery is a surediy an excellent remedy for these diseases My wife has been more or less ill for ten years She was extremely nervous and at times so weak that she could not attend to her domestic duties By the use of this medicine her strength is wholly restored and she is as healthy as I can wish her to be My address is at Dr Taylor's office

CURE OF CONSUMPTION Mrs Martin worthy member of my congregation was taken ill some time since with a cold pain in the breast and some difficulty of breathing and in a few days thereafter she had a violent cough and violent pain in the sides which no medicine would relieve She continued in this way for a long time under the medical care of Dr Rex but finally became consumptive and was evidently near the end of her earthly sufferings when her brother persuaded her to try Dr Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort When she commenced this medicine it did not seem to agree with her for a few days but by lessening the dose she found it answered a laudable purpose it relieved her cough and her difficulty of breathing instanter and we had the pleasure of witnessing her rapid recovery to health
